DEFINITION: Under general supervision, provides an advanced level of counseling and casework with mentally ill and/or substance abusing youth, transitional age youth, adults, and/or older adults. This work requires the application of high level and sophisticated social services and counseling expertise and techniques. Licensed incumbents in the Psychotherapist classification may also provide quality assurance oversight of all aspects of Behavioral Health programs including Managed Care and Medi-Cal Specialty Mental Health services, as well as other behavioral health services.

ESSENTIAL JOB DUTIES:

Social Worker IV: As a member of Health and Human Services treatment team and under the clinical direction and license of a licensed professional of the healing arts; the Social Worker IV provides individual, group and family psychotherapy, counseling, and casework with children, adults, and their families in home-based and community-based settings using evidence-based strategies. Performs bio-psychosocial assessments and develops appropriate strength-based treatment plans which are client or family-directed, culturally-informed and coordinated within the team. Connects clients to community resources and supports; participates in team meetings, interagency case conferences, peer review, and quality assurance meetings to ensure coordinated care; maintains documentation in a timely manner and in accordance with local, state, and federal laws and regulations. Provides both scheduled and crisis-orientated evaluations of clients experiencing mental health crisis and/or substance abuse problems; provides 24-hour crisis response services in a rotation with other staff, does related work as required.

Psychotherapist: The psychotherapist has met the requirements for and obtained licensure and is able to provide clinical and crisis assessment, diagnosis, and psychotherapy independently without direct clinical supervision or co-signature. The psychotherapist performs all duties as listed above and is expected to exercise a high level of sound clinical judgment while at the same time participating fully as part of the team.
