DEFINITION: To provide a range of paraprofessional and case management services under general supervision. For the Health and Human Services Specialist (HHS Specialist) I and II levels, such services include both direct client services and support to professional staff. For the journey-level HHS Specialist III and IV, incumbents provide a broad range of services and support, including educational and case management services with youth, transitional age youth, adults, and/or older adults.

ESSENTIAL JOB DUTIES:

HHS Specialist I: Under direct supervision, the HHS Specialist I may interpret and explain regulations and policy to clients; assist with a limited caseload; provide assistance to clinicians, social workers, nurses and/or other professional staff with such things as transportation of clients, collecting client documentation and coordinating communication with clients; work with other local agencies in obtaining necessary documentation for casework; provide clerical support, including: maintaining records and inputting data on computer, attending meetings and recording minutes, composing letters, completing reports, collecting and synthesizing data, and maintaining files, listings, and records; performs other related duties as assigned.

HHS Specialist II: Under general supervision and in addition to the tasks listed above, the HHS Specialist II may provide education on and/or referrals for child abuse prevention, drug and alcohol abuse prevention, health services, child care licensing requirements, and other human services topics; assist with the development of community and client needs assessments; and may present program information to individuals or groups in the community.

HHS Specialist III (MSS title: Social Service Aide): Under general supervision and in addition to the tasks listed above, the HHS Specialist III maintains a routine caseload of non-complex cases; provides support and case management to clients, such as individual case coordination, individual or group counseling, and skill building as part of a team serving children and families, transitional age youth, adults, and/or older adults; conducts ongoing client needs assessments and verifies needs by contacting other service providers; presents client assessments to professional staff for approval; completes narrative reports regarding a client’s condition and services provided and/or recommended; enters data regarding case and client information and contacts into automated system(s); makes client referrals to County and/or community resources, including medical services, mental health services, and social services; provides direct training and counseling to mentally ill and developmentally disabled clients on topics such as parenting, household management, nutritional meal preparation, budgeting, and household care; monitors the medical and psychological care of clients; supervises visits between parents and children and reports observations to social workers; provides emergency child care; transports or accompanies clients to appointments for service or interviews; may testify in court hearings; acts as a liaison between clients and professional staff, individuals, and groups in the community served; directly assists families in using and learning about the resources of society, particularly medical, legal, and employment services; draws from experience and uses independent judgment to answer questions and provide education relating to various human services programs; maintains appropriate client service standards in compliance with federal, state, and local laws and regulations; maintains appropriate and timely records and documentation, as required; performs related duties as assigned; may be required to participate in the after-hours on call rotation, as assigned.

HHS Specialist IV: Under general supervision and in addition to the tasks listed above, the HHS Specialist IV performs duties comparable to an HHS Specialist III, but works with more independence, performs a wider range of duties, and works with the more complex client situations including crisis assessment, management and intervention; and independently assesses client needs and develops individual client case plans. Both the HHS Specialist III and IV may be required to participate in the after-hours on call rotation, as assigned.
